Cyrril Wick advises on the correct approach to JR driving

The publisher intently watches Scott Murphy count down a refueling stop at the '88 Enduro. Co-driver John Harden supervises the action.

Four Car Team Enters Endurance Race.

One of the most popular events at this SVRA race is the two-hour enduro race held on Sunday morning. A team of four Allards will be entered along with eight drivers from the U.S. and abroad.

This is a team effort and we need volunteer scorers and timers to support each car. We will have contiguous pits so that the mandatory three stops for driver changes and fueling will be very visible. The enduro is in addition to the normal races that cap the weekend Sunday afternoon.

Schedule: Friday is warm-up and practice scheduled by groups. Saturday includes morning practice and afternoon qualifying races for Sunday grid positions. Dinner Saturday at Lodge on the Green. Race and street car concours times to be announced.

You don't have to race to enjoy the weekend. There's plenty to do, but do come and bring your Allard. (over)

The Allard Register

History: Allards have contended at the Glen since the late '40s. Erwin Goldschmidt won the Grand Prix in 1950 on the old course that went through the town streets. The natives speak Allard here.

Monterey Gathering: Our Left Coast disorganized racer, Bob Lytle, advises an Allard gathering will be held at the Monterey Historic Races August.18-20. Contact Bob for details: 6378 West 79st. Los Angeles, CA 90045 213-649-0260

New Allard Book: Brooklands Books is publishing a new Gold Series volume on Allards. The books will be available about June via Classic Motorbooks. Tom Lush wrote the introduction and there are many exclusive photos in the tome.

The New Register: As you know, Ray May, our Honourable Secretary, retired last year, ('87), and The Register migrated to the U.S. The Register is not a club, and does not want to be one. It provides a quarterly (we hope) bulletin to interested enthusiasts who support the marque. Our editor is presently in Moscow courtesy of IBM, but should return this summer. The publisher is standing in until then.
